

Air Flow, Inc. to Host FS-Elliott Customer Seminar

Export, PA - February 3, 2009 – FS-Elliott distributor, Air Flow, Inc., will host a customer seminar on March 18th, 2009 in Greensboro, North Carolina. The focus of this event is to inform attendees on FSE and the design and operation of centrifugal compressors, as well as features, advantages and benefits. The seminar will also address how centrifugal compressors can make compressed air systems more reliable and efficient. The presentation will feature classroom discussions and a full-size cutaway compressor model. Energy and environmental issues, controls, and maintenance topics will also be addressed. This will be the third seminar of its kind for FSE and Air Flow and will be a must-attend event for all individuals in the region who deal, on a day-to-day basis, with compressed air systems. Air Flow's experienced professionals have established an outstanding reputation in the region for technical competence and quality work. The two previous events were very successful and the third is projected to top them all.

For more information on Air Flow, Inc. visit their website at <http://www.airflowinc.com/>.